

ABSTRACT

A web page accessible by search engines is disclosed. In a preferred embodiment, a web page is provided having a URL and includes information desired to be displayed on the web. The web page further includes keywords associated with the web page. The keywords are accessible to remote search engines and facilitate the location and display of the web page for remote search engines.